... TIME

MINUTES FROZEN IN TIME

It is amazing to think just how much time is spent in a classroom! Did you know that there are 15,120,000 seconds in a school year? Not all this time is spent doing school work. Much of this time is devoted to a social atmosphere. After-school activities seem to be the most popular work. They offer the best public benefits. Many extracurricular activities are presented by our school.

Students' schedules are crowded with homework and class assignments, but a large portion of them take time out of their busy schedules to participate in one of our time-consuming after-school activities. There is something for everyone from band for the musically inclined to the new extracurricular addition, the swim team, for those fond of the water. Our school also offers a large number of academic clubs which take time from busy schedules.

Excitement spawns from all areas in the environment that we all consider a home away from home. The school extends social and educational joy to all types of people. If a person were to walk the halls after school hours, he or she would find many students buzzing around the school like bees at work. We provide time for everyone at our school.

Montevallo is not only a school for students, it is also a place for teachers and friends to learn and grow over the years. The students and faculty hope to see many changes for the best this year. We enjoy a small community which allows togetherness and friendly ties. Montevallo welcomes people with a warm and helpful smile. Our school has an open environment, and we invite you to take a stroll through our life at any time.

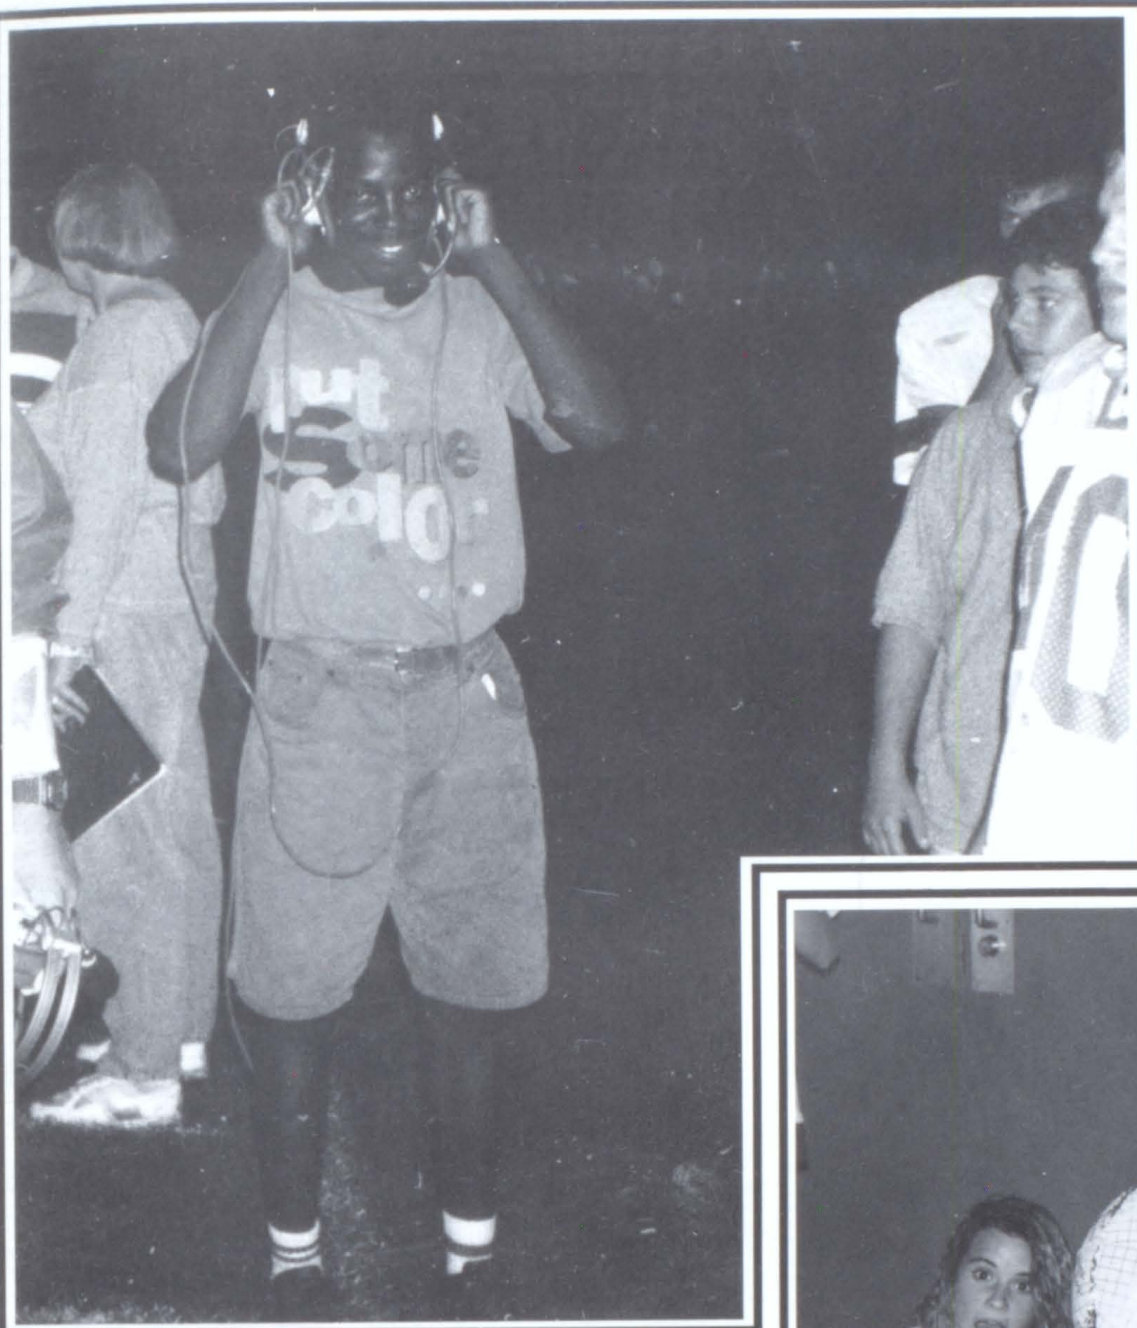

STUDENT LIFE

Have you ever stopped to take time out of your busy schedule to think about the activities of others. Montevillo High School provides students with many activities.

A new year brings time to meet new friends. New students are readily accepted, and freshmen join with seniors in the Big Brothers Big Sisters program. In every school year new fads arise and also return. All this excitement brings means of celebration such as the Homecoming Dance. Frequently after every home game we had Sock Hops. Many students are enrolled in the VIP program which allows them to leave school and go to work. In all the activities at Montevillo High School we still find time for fun.

During a game, Emmett Reese listens in on some of the coach's calls.

At College Day Baker Lawley converses with a college representative from Birmingham Southern.

Stacie Siener is overjoyed when she receives her birthday balloons.

TIME FOR YOUR OPINION

After surveying the student body, the Annual Staff collected many hilarious and somewhat serious answers. Here are the highlights from the survey. Believe it or not there are other subjects of interest beyond guys and gals. We had a good time reading and finding the ones that were appropriate to use. Most of the answers were too explicit.

Tardy to first period—couldn't find the classroom. 1SP

Sat at Senior lunch table, got yelled at; a tremendous headache. 1SP

Make friends with an upperclassman who drives you places. Roll again.

Roll one die.

1-3 You are mistaken for a sophomore. 1BP

4-6 You are mistaken for an eighth grader. 1EP

Yes, you think you are hot stuff now that you are no longer a freshman, only to find out nothing has changed. Go back 3 spaces.

SOPHOMORE

Get asked out by the cutest person in school but your parents say you can't date until you are 16. Lose a turn.

Get caught forging a note from your mom. Go to detention. 1SP

Rules

(1) Must be a student at Montevallo High School.

(2) Any number of players can play at one time.

(3) Game is not over until last player completes graduation or is otherwise removed from play.

The day finally arrives. The day you have anticipated for years, your sixteenth birthday; That magical age when your parents allow you to legally date. Only to find out there is no one to date. All the good ones are already taken. Lose 1 turn.

Correctly named the "mystery meat" in the cafeteria. Roll again.

Forget to zip your fly. Sent to detention for indecency. 1EP

Finally got a prom date! Now you will not have to ask your cousin. 1BP

Parents demand better grades.

Senior picture is identical to your driver's license picture. 1EP

Give blood at the blood drive....faint. 1EP

Freshman gets a crush on you and follows you around endlessly! 1EP

Parents extend your curfew. 1BP

Your first ACT test. Roll die. 1-2 score low- you had better take it again! 3-4 score average-Is the higher score worth the mental anguish? 5-6 score high-Relax and watch everyone else squirm!

Your character as a post graduate adult is determined by the number of stress points and embarrassment points you accumulate — 6 pts or less: Your life will be a breeze. Simple things will delight you and you'll laugh at the everyday stresses of others. — 7-13 pts: Look forward to problems with your family. — 14 pts or more: You are destined to have five children just like yourself, and become a high school principal. A mid-life crisis should be your fortieth birthday present.

Receive a college scholarship. Roll again.

Senioritis ... Roll die, lose number of turns indicated.

Scoring

BP — Bonus points

EP — Embarrassment points

SP — Stress points

One bonus point cancels out one stress point or one embarrassment point.

Term paper. 1SP regardless. Roll die. 1-4 You passed. 5-6 You failed, lose a turn.

Get class ring! 1BP

Lose class ring! 1SP

First car wreck! Roll die. 1-5 Safe but get 1SP. 6 Dead out of the game.

Graduation ... Roll die, 1-2, graduate with honors and go to a university. 3-4, graduate middle of the class, go to a state college. Roll 5, graduate by the skin of your teeth, go to a jr. college. A 6 means no graduation ... work in ditches.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

Tevas were a new look worn around school this year by many students.

Bookbags are seen being carried by all people this year.

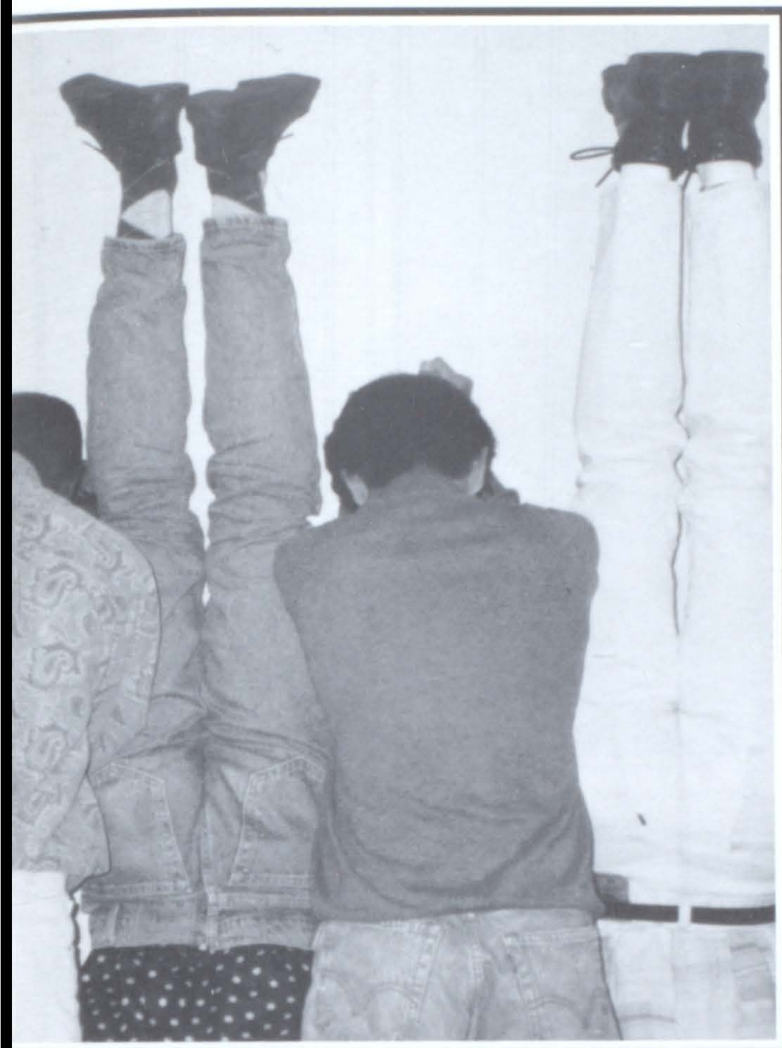

Some students "Boot Scoot Boogied" around school in low-cut boots.

Troll dolls are back!

Time passes, and like beaded necklaces, sandals, and troll dolls, some things come back around. Although some things have come back, there are still those that have been replaced for good. Such things as 8-track tapes, polyester suits, poodle skirts, and beehive hairstyles will probably never return.

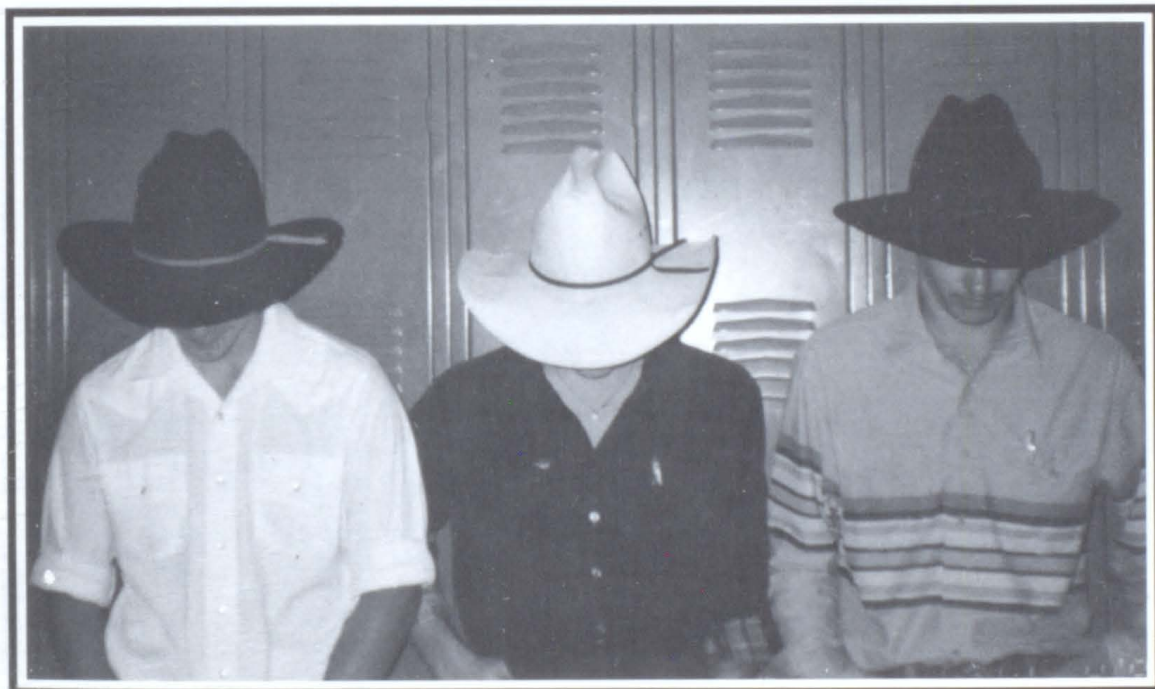

Material things are not the only form of fads. The things students say change even more often. Sayings like "No Way . . . Way, Whatever, NOT, Squeeze me, Go Girl," and many others have replaced the old sayings such as "Far Out, Way Cool and Dude."

No matter how one looks at it, it is plain to see that Levi's are the most popular jeans around.

Wild and unusual ties are a must around school this year.

Bajas are back from last year and are still just as popular.

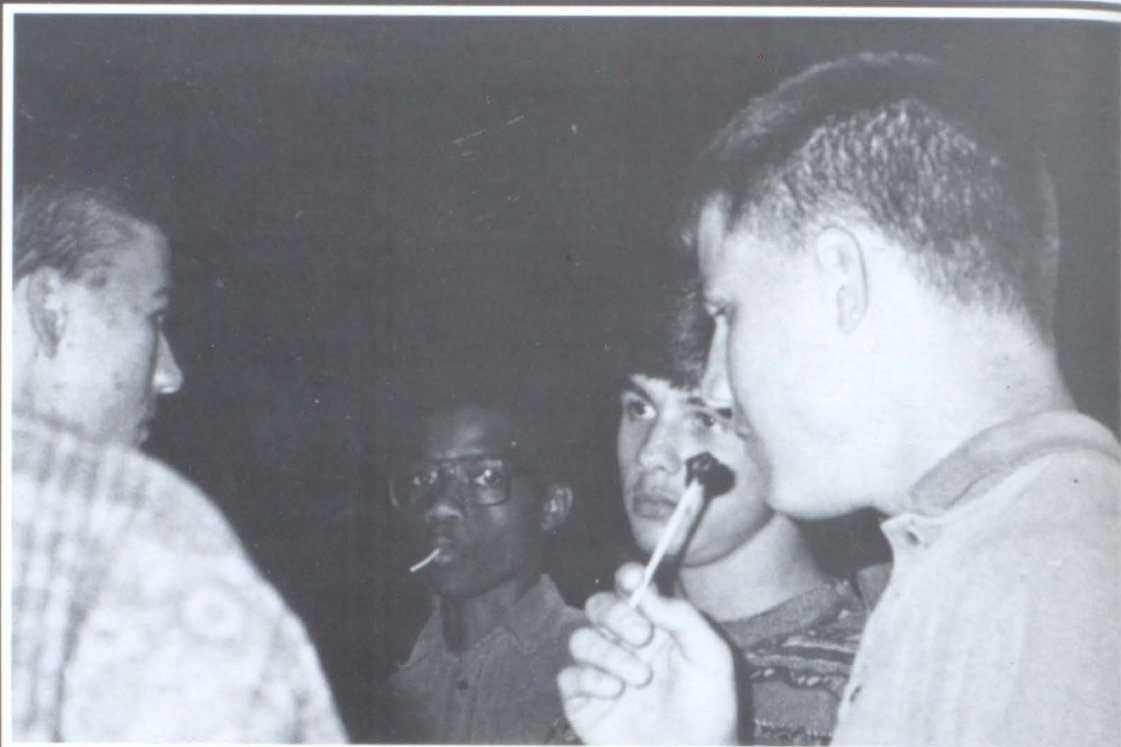

Seen mostly in black and white, cowboy hats are not worn during school, but many are seen outside school.

A TIME FOR NEW FRIENDS

This year's Big Brother-Big Sister was a big success. Freshmen boys and girls were matched with senior brothers and sisters to make them more comfortable about their new school. This helped the new students become better acquainted with the upper-classmen. "It also let the seniors remember what it was like to be a freshman," said senior, Janet Turner. Some seniors commented that they enjoyed sharing embarrassing as well as memorable experiences

Adam Vogel enjoys his sucker while hanging out with the guys.

Stacey Epperson and Libby Nathews get better acquainted as they open their tootsie pops.

A TIME FOR A CHANGE

At some point in life, it is time for change. This page is dedicated to those students who have, in one way or another, found their way to MHS for the first time. Entering a new school brings anxious but exciting moments. New students must take much of their time to adjust to this new environment. We hope that the student body of MHS has helped make this a wonderful year.

OVERTIME

VIP program has been a part of our school for several years. Students participate in the marketing class at the Vocational School. After the first six weeks participants who are employed are allowed to check-out of school to go to work. This extra time helps many students. "It helps to have more spending money," replied Richie Hamilton. These workers are visited at their job sites and are evaluated by the teachers of the School of Technology. Michael Franklin said, "It shows me the strengths and weaknesses that I need to improve on in order to do my job better." These students are advancing their task opportunities by getting additional instrumental experience. When asked how this work helped him, Paxton Young stated, "It helps me pay my bills and have a car." In this day and age students need to have an early advantage in the work force.

AHEAD OF THEIR TIME

Students today have to get a jump on the others in this world. Beginning college can be a difficult time for anyone, but some have decided to take advantage of the University of Montevallo being only a hop, skip, and a jump from the high school. Enrolled people leave school to attend college classes. There are many subjects from which to choose. Classes range from math to health to computer literacy. Participation in these classes is an honor and a privilege. Students who take part in this program can be proud to say that they are getting a step ahead of the rest.

Theresa Williams studies for her University of Montevallo History 101 class in the library.

A TIME FOR SPIRIT

At first glance of the title, thoughts may be turned to pep rallies with ear-piercing whistles, thunderous applause, band, cheerleaders, and athletes. Beginning with the orange and blue dress to the use of signs and banners, this year's pep rally competition between the classes was very exciting. Students look forward to those spirited pep rallies and show Montevallo that there is still "TIME FOR SPIRIT!"

A TIME TO PREPARE

Homecoming is a long-anticipated event. The days leading to Homecoming are filled with enthusiastic spirit and time-consuming activities. The classes compete in everything from dress-up days to spirit in pep rallies. Each class works very hard to win on Homecoming Day. Points are awarded for spirit in pep rallies, participation in dress-up days, wall decorations, floats, and penny count. After trailing in points, the sophomores pushed to the top to become the grand winners! The juniors, who were in last place, forced their way to second place, followed by the freshmen in third, and seniors in last place.

A TIME FOR RETURN

This year's homecoming week included the construction of the class floats, walls, banners, and signs. Other activities were the penny count, pep rallies and dress-up days. The dress-up days consisted of Opposite Sex Day, Celebrity Day, and Orange and Blue Day. By night, students participated in the construction of the walls, banners, signs, and the float. The Student Council raised $559.99 in the penny count that was held during lunch periods.

The Alumni from the classes of '42, '52, '62, '72, '77, '82 were honored at the game. The class of '77 also came for their 15th reunion. A tea was sponsored by the Student Council prior to the game, and the Alumni enjoyed their time together sharing memories and visiting old friends.

A Time To Reign

“I was really surprised to receive such a special honor” Meredith Cobb, the 1992 Homecoming Queen, said with her usual smile. The class attendants and Homecoming Queen were chosen by popular vote. Girls wanting to be on the court filled out a nomination slip and gave it to the Student Council sponsor. Underclassmen voted for two girls to represent their classes, and seniors selected three. The entire student body voted for one of the three girls from the senior class to be Homecoming Queen. The Homecoming Queen selection was not announced until halftime of the game when the court was escorted onto the field.

A Moment In Time

November 6, 1992, was a night to remember. On this evening the Homecoming Dance was held. The dance commenced at ten o'clock with the leadout beginning at eleven o'clock. Queen Meredith Cobb and her court were escorted by their dates for the leadout. Senior football players escorted their dates down the runway as well.

The decorations for the dance were provided by volunteer students who worked after school during the week of Homecoming. Decorations were coordinated by Mr. Latham, Mrs. Gilliland and a few key helpers included A. Fochtman, B. Goggins, B. Yeager, K. Nixon, T. Williams, M. Wlodyga and J. Hopper.

The theme of the dance was "End of the Road" by Boyz to Men. Music was provided by Pro-Cat, and photographs were taken by Bill Miller Photography.

GROUPS

Organizations play a big roll at Montevallo High School. Scholastic clubs such as the Math team, Scholar's Bowl, and the Honor Society serve a vital function in our school environment. The Key club, Student Council, Peer Helpers, FFA, and FHA are other groups that provide a positive influence on members of the Student Body. Other groups that support the school are the concert, marching, and symphonic bands, and the majorettes. No matter what a student enjoys, there is a time and place for everyone at Montevallo High School.

A TIME FOR SERVICE

The Student Council is an organization that serves the school and the community. One of the Student Council's new service projects this year was baby-sitting for PTO. This allowed more parents to attend the meeting. Another very important project is the Annual Blood Drive. It is the biggest project the Student Council undertakes each year. In addition they also organize Homecoming and conduct activities throughout Homecoming week.

Membership in National Honor Society involves more than having an 85 average. Students who qualify academically are presented to the Honor Society Faculty Council for evaluation regarding qualities of leadership, service, and character. One must be active in extracurricular activities, and have outstanding leadership abilities. The Council gives approval of nominees to be tapped for membership. A ceremony for induction is conducted by current members.

President LaCharles King says by being on National Honor Society many doors have been opened for him and has helped him keep up with current events.

Vice President Meredith Cobb had fun collecting Toys for Tots during the Christmas Holidays.

The Future Farmers of America is a national organization with a very active chapter here in Montevallo. All the members of the club take agribusiness with Mr. Berry during the school day. This instruction ranges from the use of hand and mechanical tools to computer drafting. Students learn to prepare sheep and cattle for livestock shows as a project. Another major project is the annual fruit sale. This year's fruit sale totaled 985 boxes. Senior, Brad Goggins, sold the most cases of fruit for the second year in a row. Expanding Through the

Every second of every day the world changes in some form or fashion. Technology is just one of the ways our world evolves. Technology is expanding and reaching into new fields of work and research. In an effort to keep ahead of the changing times, our school has opened its doors to several new classes. We include an Applied Biology and Chemistry taught by Jan Rogers. Kevin Raybon teaches an Applied Mathematics class, that helps students improve their math skills. In the area of Physics, Wally Blanton offers courses in Principles of Technology. Larry Haynes conducts classes in Applied Communications and two Mass Communications courses.

The Shelby County School of Technology in Columbiana now offers more than just training in basic trades. The school now allows persons to spread out into new areas of study. Many technological classes are available for the students. The School of Technology is directed by Dan Acker. The school allows students to practice certain skills and trades for the second half of the day. This change is helping graduates step into the New Age.

Tracy Pickett and Leslie Bunn present a project in their Applied Biology and Chemistry class.

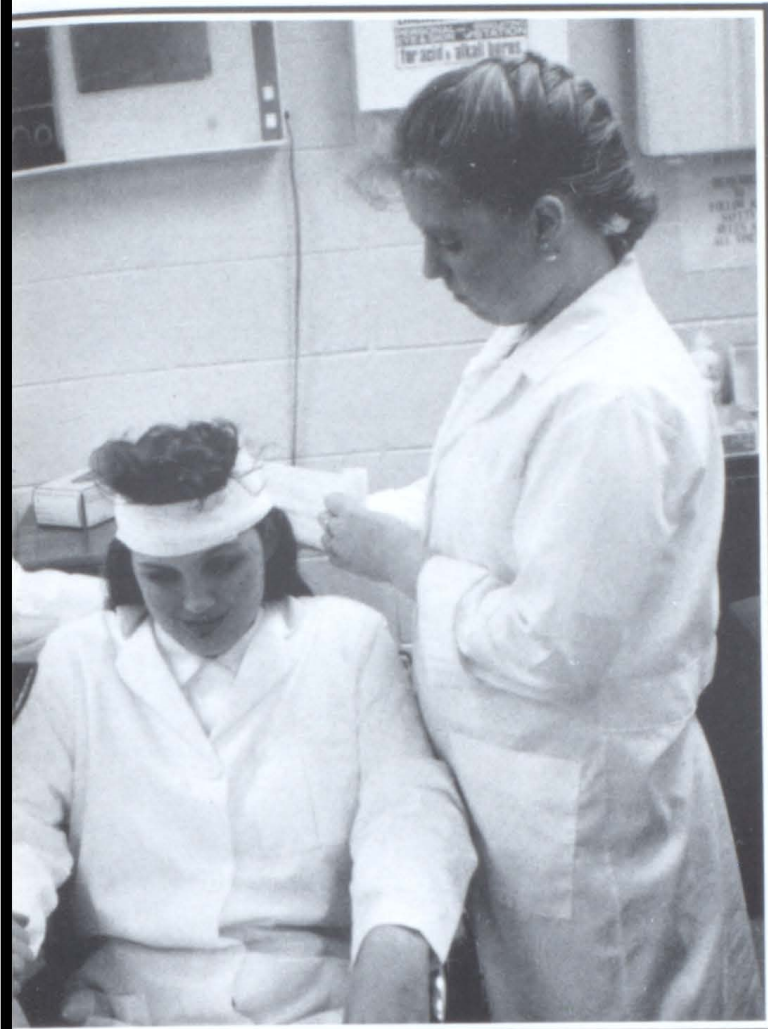

Kenny McCullars and Cornelius McCray work with electrical devices at the School of Technology.

The chorus has been harmonizing for three years at Montevallo. It began in 1990 and is under the direction of Julia Hixson. It has been all female. The increasing growth has now enticed the attention of three males. The chorus performs at in-school events, PTO meetings, the annual Christmas concert at the High School and Elementary School, and at a Spring Concert. With the "new found" interest many find a time to sing.

Chorus Members: Front row: Courtney Smitherman, Ann Fulgham, Felicia Moore, Latora Edwards, Danielle Rutledge. Middle: Tabatha Lawley, LaRie Coleman, Tim Alexander, Forrest Draper, Jennifer Whalin, Nancy Cottingham. Back: Tomeaka Edwards, LaKisha Coleman, LaQuita Coleman, David Lumpkin, Jolie Smith, Karen Junkins, Kerie Junkins.

Latora Edwards remarks, "I have enjoyed my three years of choir participation and look forward enthusiastically to my senior year".

Choir members harmonize under the direction of Julia Hixson.

Show Time

The Montevallo Players originated four years ago under the guidance of Steve Latham. They followed a rich tradition of acting from years before. Each year the Players hold a Winter and Spring production. Mr. Latham reflects on the ability of the Players, by saying, "I am amazed at the talent many students hold, just waiting to be tapped into". The Winter Plays this year include three One Act Plays, The Winter of 1917, The Lottery, and The Tell-Tale Heart. The Montevallo Players hope to expand their talents each and every year.

To Keep In Time

Montevallo High School has two bands. One is the Concert Band. They are the least experienced of the two. They play easier music and build up to more difficult pieces. The band has two performances, one for Christmas and the other for the Spring Concert.

The Symphonic Band plays more difficult pieces of music. The band is made up of people who have moved up through the Concert Band. This group represents Montevallo High at District and State levels. They also perform at the Christmas and Spring Concerts. The band is under the direction of Jim Weese.

Mr. Weese shows Jody Arnold, Mandy Howard, and Lindsey Smith the correct way to play.

Jack Taylor, Melvin Craig, and Edward Shamburger play their parts in the song.

The trumpets and french horns tune up.

The flutes and saxophones perfect their music.

Trumpet players prepare for the Christmas concert.

Members of the band pay attention to the notes they play.

The flute and clarinet players warm up before practice begins.

MARCHING IN TIME

The Montevallo High School Marching Troubadours work hard all year in preparation for their great performances. Band members attend Band Camp in August and continue to practice three to four hours after school each week. They participated in the Pell City Marching Festival, October 17, and earned superior ratings. All the time and hard work has truly paid-off for the band this year. During half-time at the football games the band performed "Broadway Opener", "It Don't Mean A Thing If It Ain't Got That Swing", drum feature "Let's Get Cooking", and "A Tribute To Elvis". The special activity included a guest appearance from Elvis. Each member contributed in making the band one of the very best in the area.

Kevin Gardner, Daniel Stobert, and Allen Blair take time out to joke around.

Everyone enjoys a parade.

The marching band steps in time in the Homecoming parade.

The always smiling drum major, Thandi McClain, directs the band during a pep rally.

Lisa Womac, Kathy Weese, and Theresa Williams go out in style.

John Paul Dutton and Matthew Reese practice before a pep rally.

Jerry Jackson, Eric Wilson, and Matthew Webb keep the beat for the band.

Twirling

The 1992-1993 majorettes attended a summer camp at the University of Alabama and received superior ratings and a trophy for their efforts. They also traveled to Pell City for band competition where they again received all superior ratings.

Emily Sullivan gives a look of wonder while marching into the stands.

Lakitta Prentice smiles as she receives a flower.

Kelly Pickett puts on her biggest smile while twirling in the parade.

Casie Williams performs a good show for the halftime fans.

Rachael Hughes wants to know who all the people are.

Jenny Clayton demonstrates a new move during band camp.

Twirling is driving Emily Sullivan crazy.

Kelly Pickett looks like she knows what she is doing.

Casie Williams decides she has had enough of twirling.

PEOPLE

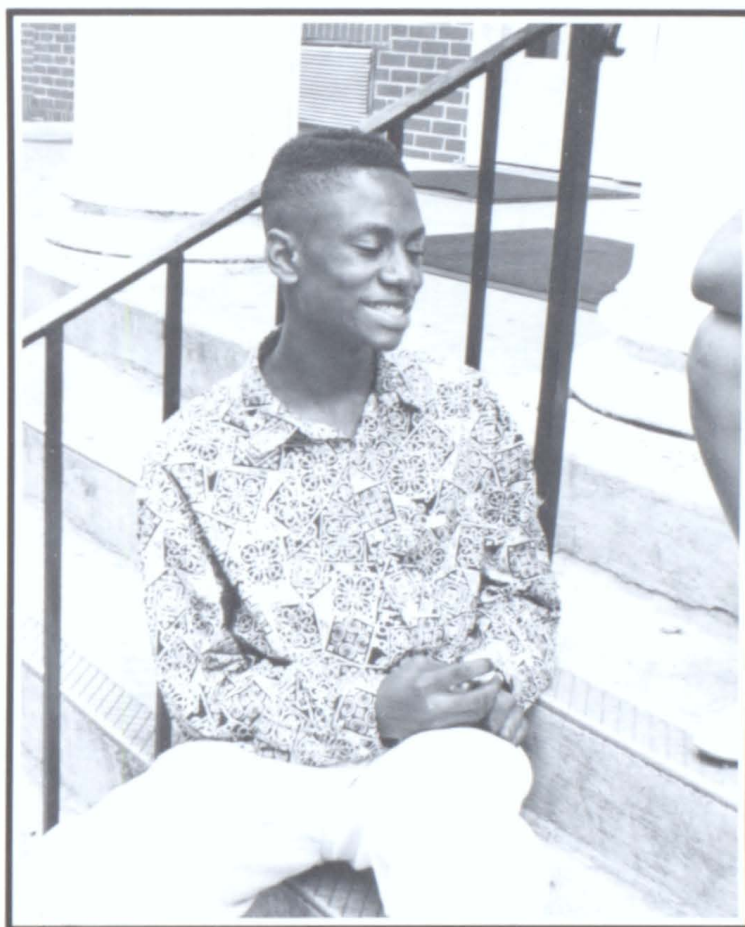

Lost in a sea of faces, memories of classmates and teachers are hard to recapture once they drift apart. Yet in a smaller school like Montevallo High it is easier to remain close to those with whom you associate. People depend on each other to pull them through each and every day. As students move through school, they grow closer together like a family, and they spend many hours together every day. So whether a freshman or a senior, you are still a very important person at Montevallo High School.

Chris Fulmer and Amanda Scarborough show Homecoming spirit by painting their faces.

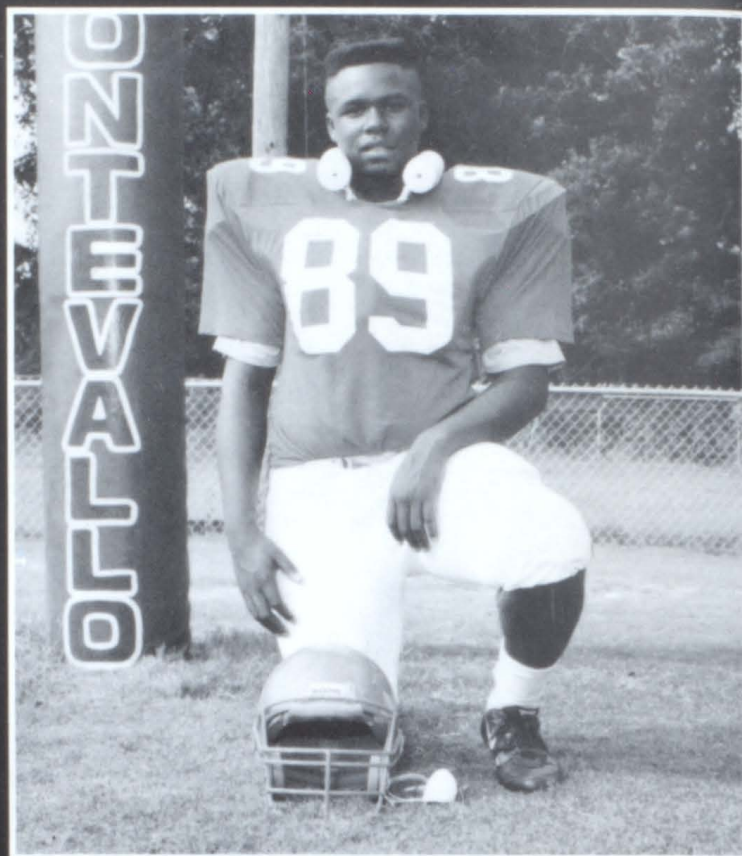

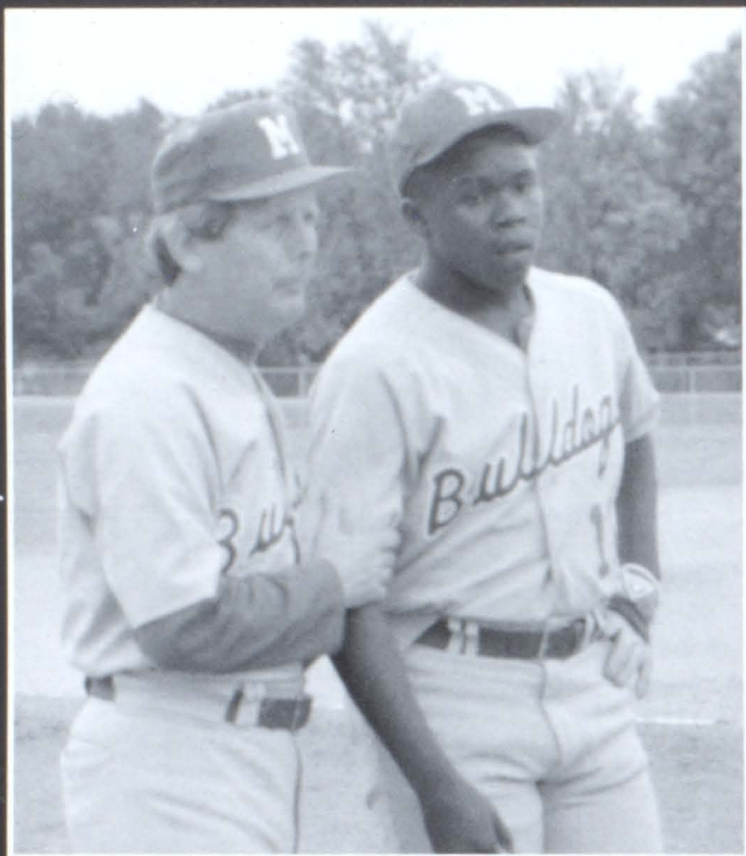

Ira Nelson sits on the front steps having a friendly conversation.

Detra Stallworth and Tim Alexander contribute to the penny count.

IN MEMORY OF

Dinky Gaddis was a kid who was fun to be around and fun to coach. He was a very gifted athlete who was just beginning to realize his potential.

Dinky played football and baseball and was a starter in both sports.

We all miss him very much because he was a great person with a big smile. He could always make people laugh and feel good about themselves.

Dinky Gaddis was one of the greatest kids that I have ever coached in my twenty years of coaching!

A day does not pass when we do not think about him and what he meant to Montevallo High School.
Coach Jim Vakakes

Dinky Gaddis is not only a name but is a person remembered by all. He was a person who brought real joy into the world and touched the lives of everyone with whom he came in contact.

When I reminisce, I can always see his face with an everlasting smile and dimples as deep as God could make them. It seemed as though he could lift up a bowed head with his smile. I see a person whose heart was full of love, joy, peace, and happiness.

It is impossible to only think of the name "Dinky" without thinking of the person too.

With Love,
Robin Huff

DINKY GADDIS

SENIORS

For eleven years students proceed through school looking forward to their twelfth year when they will become a senior.

Becoming a senior not only means the last year of school at Montevallo, but it also carries with it many responsibilities. These responsibilities include being leaders for the younger students and acting more mature.

For most, approaching graduation can be both exciting and scary. "I am sad because I am going to miss all of my friends, but I will be glad to finally get out in the real world," said Stacie Siener. Graduation means no more tardies for being late to class, no more teachers yelling in the halls, no more school buses, and no more cafeteria lunches. But it also means becoming more independent.

Upon graduation, most will either begin college or go straight into the working world. David Lumpkin said, "I am scared of losing touch with all my friends, and I am worried about how far my education will take me through life."

JUNIORS

The junior year starts the "beginning of the end" for school life. This is the year when people gain their driver's license and more independence. They also take their first step to becoming a senior by receiving their class rings.

It is the first year of being "upper" classmen. The reality of "real life" kicks in when they realize only a year is left until graduation.

SOPHOMORES

The students also face college, technical training and career choices. In addition, the sophomores can be called the winners of Homecoming, because of their tremendous spirit, ability to work well together, and their great ideas. Sophomores are on a roll. FRESHMEN

When entering high school, most freshmen have mixed feelings of excitement and anticipation. They assume more responsibilities and civic duties as well as meet new people and have lots of fun. As the year progresses and freshmen see how much fun and exciting high school can be, they start looking forward to the next three years with eagerness.

SPORTS

“It should not matter if one wins or loses; it is how one plays the game.” Putting forth the best effort matters more than a winning season. The desire to win binds teammates together when winning means the most.

Self-improvement and the longing to beat a rival is the reason why teams practice daily. When a victory comes after the work is done, it always has a sweet flavor. Practice and an optimistic attitude lead teams to victory.

Along with football and basketball, cross-country track, volleyball, and swimming were popular sports this year. Montevallo excelled in many sports, and the fan support was tremendous.

Demetrius Dickinson puts a move on a Vincent defender.

Coach Blanton congratulates David Potter on a job well done.

A TIME TO CHEER

The Varsity Cheerleaders work many hours to make a "spirited school." The squad practices three times each week to prepare signs, run-throughs, and routines. The squad attended Universal Cheerleading Association Camp at the University of Montevallo. They competed in sideline, cheer, and pom-pom competition and won a superior trophy and many blue ribbons. Stacie Siener was chosen an All-Star and traveled to London to be in a New Year's Day parade. Jodie Selman won the jump contest.

CHEER AND CHEER

The 1992-93 B-Team squad has come a long way. The squad began the year with ten new cheerleaders. While attending the UCA camp at University of Montevallo, they won a trophy for championship honors as well as superior and excellent ribbons. Their honors are the result of dedication and hard work.

B-Team Cheerleaders: (Front Row) K. Fochtmann, M. Reach, A. During, T. Adams (Head), A. Blackmon. (Back Row) H. Erwin, H. Pate, L. Nathews, S. Morgan, J. Anderson (Co-Head).

Just a little extra playing time is exactly what the B-team football squad allows. A few select players from the Varsity team are chosen to participate as well. This valuable play time allows players a transitional period to adjust to a higher level varsity competition. The B-team played five games this season. Our school is proud of these athletes, and we hope to see them play for the Varsity team.

A TIME TO SHOOT

Montevallo was rated in the Top 3 in the state during this year's season. "The basketball team was one of the best at MHS," said Morgan Lawley. Leading the team in scoring and rebounding was Mike Jones. The Dogs were also carried by great shooters, including Curtis Tyus, and Maurice Campbell. Demetrius Dickinson responded, "The Bulldogs were very exciting to watch because you never knew who would execute the next 'slam dunk'."

Going, going...GONE! Another 3-pointer for the Dogs!

Curtis Tyus "slams" on a Pelham defender.

Mike Jones goes up for two.

Junior Varsity

Many former players have utilized J.V. as a stepping stone to boost their abilities to new heights. This level of competition offers experience to young players for future success. Coach, Kevin Raybon, is the motivating force and encourages the young Bulldogs to be all they can be.

Lady Bulldogs

Coach Horton's thoughts were "Although it has been a rebuilding year, the lady's good attitudes and hard work made it a good year." That seemed to be the feeling of the whole team. This year the team began with one returning starter, four other returning players, and five new players. "The season began with a few problems, but eventually we worked them out and focused on playing good basketball," said Lady Bulldog, Christy Fletcher.

Another two-pointer for Christie Fletcher!

Ann Fulgham struggles for a loose ball.

Ann Fulgham takes an outside shot as she warms up for the game.

Krishun Hudson smiles as she nails her free throw during practice.

Erica Burns charges for Krishun Hudson's rebound.

Rachael Brown waits for the perfect time to go for a shot.

Junior Varsity

The Montevallo High School sports program marked a milestone this year. For the first time, our school has a girls junior varsity basketball team. This will give the girls more experience as they move to the varsity level. The players are coached by Dot Bishop. Each girl can proudly say that she was a part of the first girls junior varsity basketball team at Montevallo High School.

Chavone Spruel concentrates on keeping the ball in her possession.

Jessica Lee surges forward to score a basket.

A Time To Volley

“Spike”, “bump”, and get “set” for the winning power of the volleyball team. This all-girl force is directed by Coach Dot Bishop. This outstanding group of athletes ended the regular season with a winning record of 15-10. Hard work and determination executed by the Lady Bulldogs helped them to compete in Area and Sub-State tournaments. Team participants and their coach practice several hours each week to perfect their skills. The volleyball team is a vital part of our school, and we commend their winning tradition.

Back: T. Houser, L. Coleman, R. Stano, E. Burns. Front: L. Edwards, K. Junkins, K. Junkins, A. Crocker

April Crocker dives to save a play for the Lady Bulldogs.

Latora Edwards stretches to “set” the ball in practice

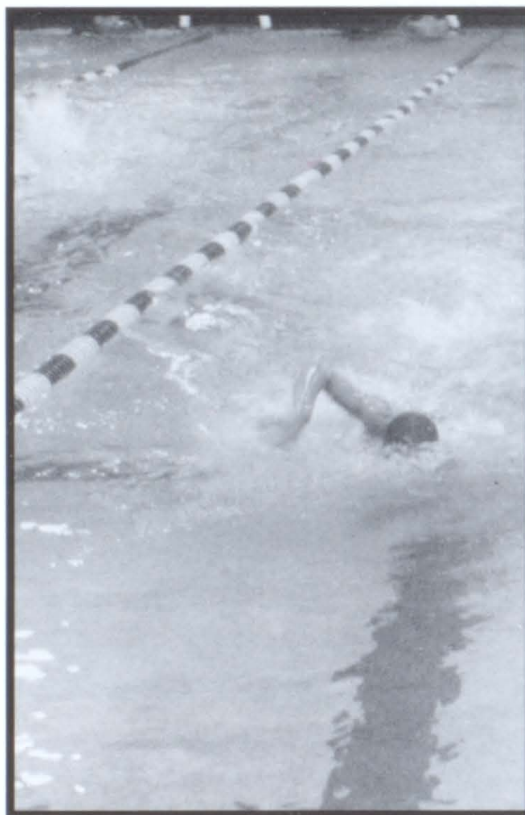

A group of girls “bump and set” the ball back and forth during practice.

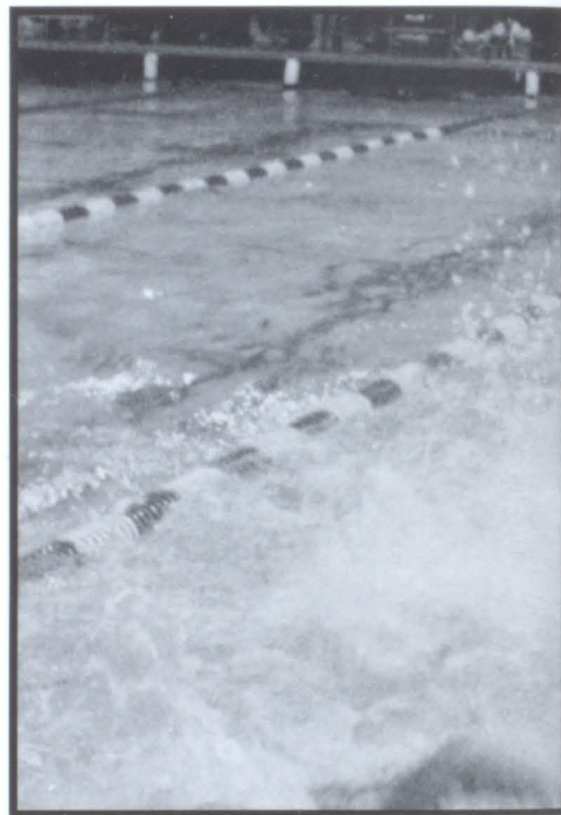

A Time to...

Swim team got off to a slow start but is now splashing ahead! It began two years ago, with one member, David Potter. The team now has eleven swimmers. The team placed eighth in the state meet at the University of Alabama. David Potter, the team captain, placed third in the 50 Freestyle and fifth in the 100 Butterfly and Bill Davies placed fifteenth in the 200 Freestyle. The Boys and Girls relay teams placed in the top sixteen in the state. The team is coached by Rachael Clark and is sponsored by Kevin Raybon.

Bill Davies charges the wall to finish the race.

David Potter splashes toward the finish.

...Take Your Mark

Success for the cross country runners did not come easy this year due to lack of experience. This is the first time that MHS has fielded a team. Team members ran over 800 miles during the season. In addition they competed in two track meets, The Berry Invitational and the 32nd Alabama Cross Country Championship. "I was very pleased with our young team, we have some real talent that is yet to be developed," said first year coach Wally Blanton.

First: J. Arnold, W. Britton, J. Deese. Back: W. Blanton (Coach), D. Potter, B. Davies

After a long run the guys take a break.

Wade Britton strides toward the finish line.

James Deese shows effort as the race comes to an end.

IF WE ONLY HAD TIME . . .

Years go by and during this time the world changes. Just like the world, Montevallo High School has evolved over the year. The world saw a new president entering the capital, and MHS gained a new addition, principal, George Theodore. Mr. Theodore brought with him many improvements to the school the same as President Bill Clinton will bring new ideas to the world. Everything big or small is affected by time.

Montevallo will be saying "good-bye" to this year's group of seniors, but will be saying "hello" to a new class of freshmen. As time goes by people come and go, but there is one thing that will never change and that is the friendly and welcoming spirit that has been a part of Montevallo High since 1906.
